

DAREDEVIL STUNT pilot, Cliff Winters, gave spectators more than a thrill Sunday at the Porterville municipal airport when things went a little bit wrong in the final act of the Porterville Area Pilots' association and Breakfast Lions club air show. In the act, billed as "The Clobber," Winters flies his plane through a burning barrier, with heavy posts shearing off the wings of the plane as he goes through. In the remarkable sequence of photos, taken by Glenn Edwards, the plane is shown hitting the barrier; second photo shows debris still in the air, but the plane, instead of sliding into the ground is apparently in an updraft, starting to climb and roll; third photo shows the cloud of dust as the plane hit the ground, after turning on its back in the air and crashing upside down; two bottom photos show Civil Air Patrol men, ambulance crew members and others working to remove Winters from the wreckage. Winters was taken to the Sierra View hospital, where an examination showed he was not seriously injured. (Edwards Studio photos)

BIG TIME PLANNED ON JULY FOURTH

PORTERVILLE, June 29 — A parade, in which pioneers of the community will ride in Horseless Carriages, will lead off Porterville's old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration next Tuesday morning, while balance of the all-day program will include a family picnic and entertainment at Murry park, a ceremony in the Porterville cemetery honoring the memory of Dr. Samuel Charles George, and a spectacular fireworks display at Jamison stadium in the evening.

Leading the parade, which is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. on Porterville's Main street, will be Pioneer Centennial Queen Mammie Saak, with her alternates, Mrs. Lucy Spuhler, of Prairie Center, and Mrs. Rena Marshall, of Porterville.

Pioneers of the community will follow in the Horseless Carriage group, with persons desiring to ride, or persons desiring to submit the name of a pioneer who should be in the parade, asked to contact Mr. or Mrs. Donald Witt, co-chairmen of the July Fourth celebration.

The parade will also feature a fire department division, in which old pieces of equipment, including original hose cart used in Porterville 70 years ago, in addition to modern equipment, will be on display.

Indians from the Tule River reservation have been invited to ride in the parade; horse-drawn vehicles and mounted individuals and groups are welcome to participate, according to Mr.

and Mrs. Witt.

The parade will form at 10 a. m. in the North street area; riders, persons with old wagons, and drivers of Horseless Carriages should report to parade headquarters that will be set up; it is not necessary to send in entry forms.

YOUR LEGISLATOR
AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

California's position as the top state in agricultural production will probably continue longer if voters approve a constitutional amendment which was adopted at our recent session. The measure relates to the assessment of land used exclusively for agricultural purposes, and its intent is to save such land from being gobbled up for other purposes.

The problem at which this amendment is aimed arises from the present terms of the State Constitution, which require that "cultivated and uncultivated land of the same quality, and similarly situated, shall be assessed at the same value." In effect this language has obligated county and city assessor to value agricultural land for tax purposes, not at its value as farm land, but rather on its potential value as subdivision or industrial land. This fact has literally driven farm owners into selling or using their land for homes or industrial development in order to pay the higher taxes.

An example of what occurs under existing law goes something like this: Farmer A owns 10 acres of level land, close to a city, which he has cultivated for a number of years. Its true value for farm purposes is $1500 per acre. However, its potential value for subdivision or industrial use is $9000 per acre, so it must be assessed at that figure. Confronted by the necessity of paying six times as much tax, far more than the agricultural products he gets from the land will justify, Farmer A either sells the land, or subdivides it himself. So 10 more acres of fine California farm lands go out of production.

The proposed constitutional amendment would add a new section relating to assessment of such land. It would provide that in assessing land which is Sunday the 23 Jan. 1859.

Isaac Putnam & my humble self have been out a Duck hunting to day as usual, accomplished nothing as we expected. Bad luck for young men. We had a fine walk. Four or five young men called on us today. We had jovial times. Weather is warm & pleasant.

Sunday the 13 of Feb. 1859. — I have just finished a letter for Perley & one for the Post Master at Los Angeles. The weather has been muddy & rainy for the last week. Isaac Putnam left here to weeks ago last Thursday. Charles Recd. a letter from him yesterday. He was then in San Francisco about leaving for Nevada. I am all right. Health good, think some of going to the Colorado. I am still at my old stand doing duty.

Of Library Books

One of the great achievements in social studies of our time is The City in History by Lewis Mumford. There are three Mumfords, the scholarly historian, the passionate magistrate, preaching with the fire of an old Testament prophet, and the artist-architect of words. All are present in this massive work, and for all who have thought deeply about the city and its meaning as a manifestation of the highest art of mankind, this book offers a thought-provoking analysis. It is the fulfillment of the promise of The Culture of Cities, and will challenge, disturb and inform all who read.

To move from the sublime to the gaily ridiculous, Connie Clausen's account of circus life, "I Love You Honey But the Season's Over," is a priceless must. For one hectic summer she found herself in a ballet with horses and elephants, learned about animals and their handlers, about other acts, and how to live on the road. She found this world was not for her, but she still goes back, when the circus is in New York, for a quick taste, and her children proudly boast that "Mother rides the elephant." A fresh look at circus life.

As summer approaches, traveling to far away places, whether in reality or through books, is in the minds of many of us. Here in our own country, the book Lost Towns and Roads of America by J. R. Humphreys takes us away from the crowded freeways to an America of another day, and shows us what

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

FIVE DAYS in the High Sierra was just about the greatest as far as Jeanne Hoffman, columnist for the Los Angeles Times, is concerned. Last week she took a horseback swing out of Quaking Aspen, into Trout Meadow, Lower Funston, Coyote Lakes, Lion Meadow and back; she'll write all about it in one of her Sunday L. A. Times columns in August . . . And leaving today on a similar trip is Bud Boyd, outdoor writer for the San Francisco Chronicle . . . Getting the press people back into the mountains is a project of one Woody Hannam, pack station owner at Quaking Aspen. (Woody is back on the job after a six-month hitch with Uncle Sam's army.)

SOMEPLACE BETWEEN the extremes of "keep industry out," and "we'll take anything" lies the logical community approach to industrial development. Actually, the "keep industry out" idea has never gained too much support, since as far back as the 1890s efforts were being made in southeastern Tulare county to develop industry to supplement agriculture and natural resources; in fact, Springville once had a furniture factory and a box factory that utilized lumber from the mountains and filled a retail demand then existing in this area; and around 1900, when heavy citrus production was coming onto a weak market, there was considerable talk of a marmalade factory to use surplus oranges.

MORE OUTSPOKEN are those who have the "we'll take anything" approach to industry. And with these we sometimes lose our patience for this community does not want "any" industry. For instance, we don't want an industry that is obnoxious in any way; we don't want an industry that will bring in a "cheap" class of worker to whom is paid a "starvation" wage; we don't want the "here today, gone tomorrow" type of operation.

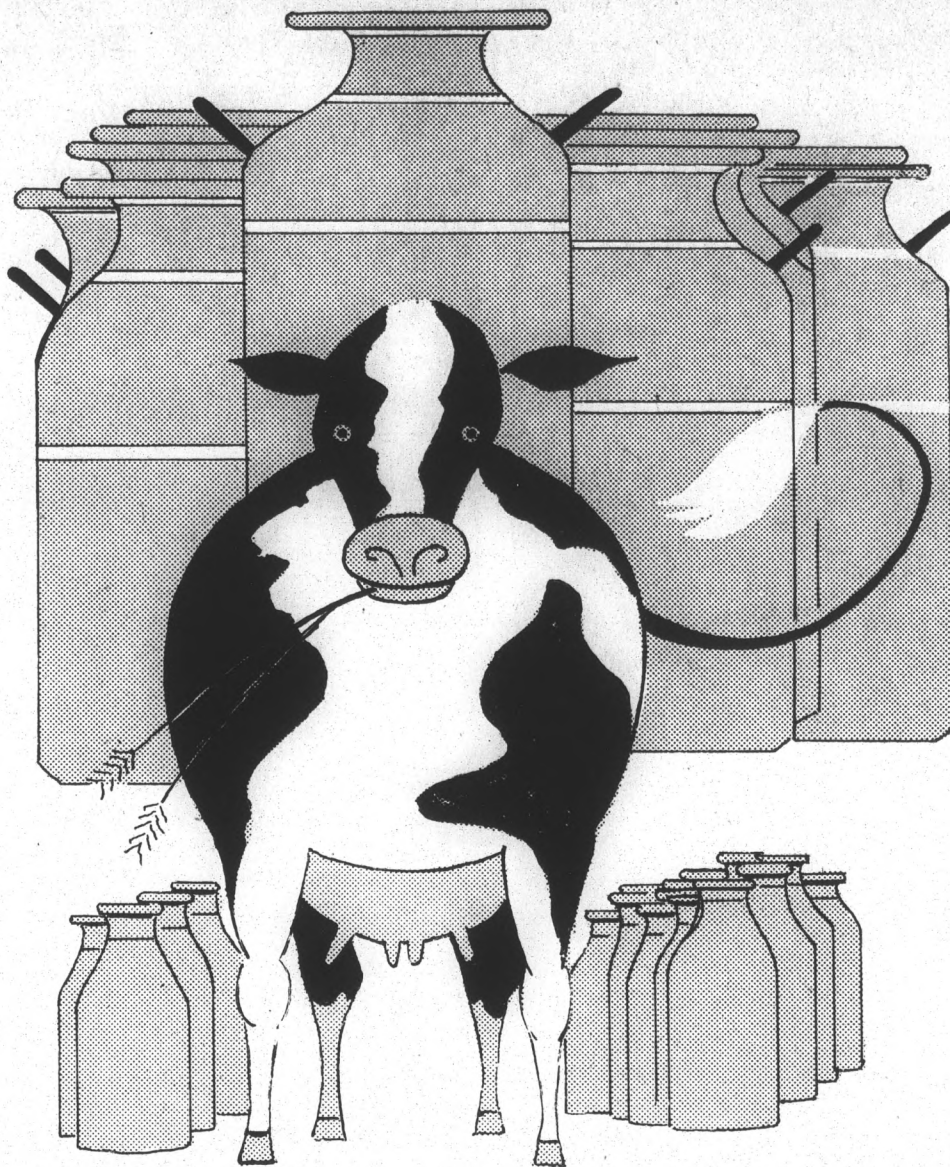

AND OUR personal idea is that we don't want the industry whose bosses start a chiseling deal filled with demands for free land, tax advantages, and other special favors.

ACTUALLY, THIS community has a rather stable economy, based on agriculture. Because of this we can sort of let the economic situation develop along natural lines—and, after all, any legitimate industry will decide on new locations on a basis of economic factors involved, plus, of course, the extra features that a given community has to offer.

WE DO not mean that the community does nothing to interest industry—industry that ties in with agriculture, or "clean" industry of the Rockwell type. Certainly there should always be up-to-date facts available concerning the community; creation of an "industrial park" is a sound idea; (with private money, not tax money) and we would like to see a sort of reactivation of the Civic Development foundation; there is always work and contacts for the chamber of commerce industrial committee.

AND THERE is another factor that we think is important, but often overlooked: Desirable industry need not be located exactly in Porterville to benefit Porterville. Industry any

"THE GREAT chieftans have gone their way, never again to roam the open plains; the buffalo have faded into Mother Earth, never to return. Only those remain who have learned to walk the path with the White Man. So to those that follow and hunt their flinten arrowheads; study their picture rocks; rekindle the dead embers of their council fires; tell the stories they have told, and even dance as they have danced - to them must be entrusted the beauty and peace of Waconda Agua. So again the Koshare asks you to listen to the rhythm of their Great Drum; feel its throb in your hearts. Let your tired minds relax to the soothing beat of the Great Medicine Drum; see again the care-free life of the Red Men as the Koshare reveal the age-old scenes of their Happy Hunting Ground. Follow them on the hunt of the shaggy buffalo through the Valley of Winding Waters in search of game. Live with them the life of the great people they represent. Enter into the rhythms of the Great Drum. Let your hearts dance free with the winds of Shadowland. Look far into the Turquoise Sky and see the Great Thunder Bird and remember that there lives Waconda Agua, the Great Spirit. May he fill your hearts with the peace of the Forest Children"..... Under auspices of the Porterville Methodist Men's club, the famous Koshare Indians will dance in Jamison stadium, the evening of July 10. Tickets for this authentic and entertaining performance can be obtained from Gibson Stationery store, Porterville chamber of commerce office, Burkhart's Photo and Bible supply, and Methodist church office.

Western Divide Road Work Begins Early In July

The new officers were elected at a recent meeting held in Murry park. During the summer, a party is planned to welcome new members; eligible for Hi-4-H are 4-H club members who have graduated from elementary school.

BILLS MUST BE SIGNED BY JULY 21

SACRAMENTO, June 29 — Bills passed by the recently concluded California state legislature must be signed by Governor Edmund G. Brown by July 21 if they are to become law; if he does not sign, the bill is automatically "pocket vetoed." All signed measures go into effect on September 15.

Control Hoppers, Rollers, Mites and Keep Vineyards Producing at Full Strength

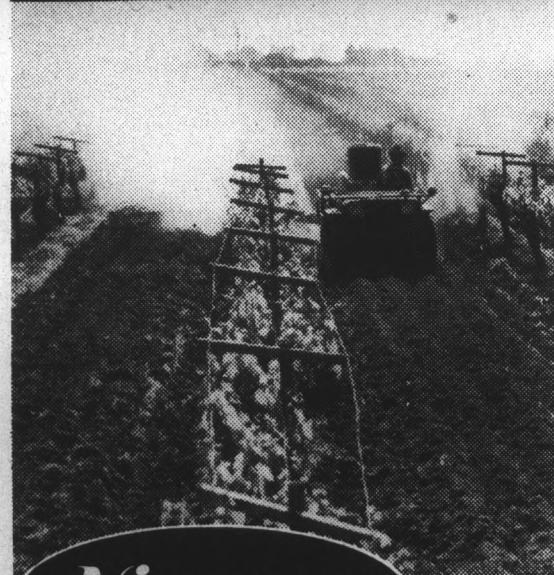

One application of Sevin® with either Trithion® or Ethion will give effective control of leafhoppers, leaf rollers and mites. Any one of these three pests weakens the vines and reduces the plant's ability to produce peak yields.

Hot weather is conducive to rapid multiplication of the mite population. They can ruin a good crop in a matter of days. Stop 'em before they start!

Hoppers and rollers reduce leaf area, subjecting the fruit to sunburn and generally reducing grape quality by lowering the sugar content. Keep your vines working with sound, healthy leaves.

Stop all three of these pests with safe, easy-to-use Sevin and either Trithion or Ethion. For suppression of mildew add Sunland dusting sulphur or Kolodust®. For best results see your local Niagara Field Representative or call SU 4-6795.

Place in southeastern Tulare county benefits Porterville—industry at Springville; the mill operation on the Tule River Indian Reservation; the Drew company deal at Lindsay and Strathmore; the Roberts operation at Cotton Center; the Divizich plant at Ducor; the many small, industrial-type businesses located throughout the area; the citrus houses and cotton gins. All of these help the general economy of the total community.

THESE TYPES of industrial development have come about because the economy of the community satisfies the demands of the industry concerned. Basically, this is the sound approach on which industry must be developed in the future.

Royal Porter Putnam Journal

from them especially the squaws or Moha's. Times are hard in Cal. Poor D---s are cussing the country down to the lowest mark. How I feel for them. "In a horri."

Decm. 3d of Saturday 1859. Eight months have passed away since I last omitted writing in my interestin journal. Though I am again determined to put down a few more items this winter. As this will undoubtedly be my last winter in California. During the passed months I have enjoyed fine health and made some money. I have lived mostly alone, and 10 miles east of Visalia where I am now residing but not alone. I have plenty of Company, such as it is. In the month of June & July we had warm weather. Thermometer high as 110 to 115 degrees. There has been a great many Robbers & Murders caught in this vicinity during the last summer. My friend Charles Putnam had the luck to get married in Sept. How Strange! He has got him a fine looking wife, intelligent & industrious. Wouldn't I be glad to find me such an help mate. "My Gorry" it would be the making of me. I have not much time to spare in writing. And it don't take but little time to tell all I know. Therefore I will say a few words for to day & close. We have just been having a good long rain & the grass is now looking green & beautiful. In one weeks time there will be excellent feed for stock on the Plains. The Monts. are well covered with the cold sheet of winter Snow. In one days travel I could go to the Mts. and back home. You are aware therefore that winter is close by us but we feel it not. In a short time from now we will have flowers blooming in the valley & all things will appear & look like Welcome spring in my native state Penna. I am feeling robust and hearty. I am well versed in the ways of a Californian. Think I'm one of the "Plugs" can Drink Whiskey &c.

Decm. 7th 1859. — We have had beautiful weather for the passed four days. Every thing is growing in splendor, and I reckond I am growing more independent. I have my own way in most things now adays. I have a kind man working for me for $16.00 He commenced working the 9 ultimo. To day I have been riding a horse Back at about in this vicinity, looking for some of my loose property. Had good luck enough to find my "Bear Pig" that being all my property running at large. I feel contented to day having done my duty.

Travel is very brisk on the road. Many emigrants are coming in the valley this winter & as a general thing they bring lots of Girls. How fortunate that is for some of us old Bachelors. We may yet get married if they still keep arriving from Texas. They are beautiful & very captivating creatures "I'll tell you." I must stop, consider & pause.

Decm. 13, 1859. It is now cloudy and foggy & has been so for the five days past. This morning we had a very light rain. The stage passed by to day full of Passengers for San Francisco. Herkenmer Pitnam leaves Visalia to day for his Dear Home in Canada. How I wish I could go with him. Yesterday I had the pleasure of Dining with or in Company with two American Ladys. Lately from Sonora, Mexico. They were "Sum." We also had a social game for the Whiskey. How captivating & lovely they were. I could hardly bear to have them leave they were so agreeable & entertaining company. But they would smoke cigars & do other small tricks. I sent home a letter or rather mailed one to day. I am feeling some lonely just now. "But I am a man for aw that."

1859 Sunday 25 Decm. 1859. To day is Christmas & we are having a warm Sunny day to enjoy ourselves in partaking of all the rarities that is generally exchanged in on this Holly-day. Egg-nog will have to suffer in this portion of the Country. I have been invited to attend a party of that kind, but happily declined. The weather since the 15 Inst. has been dismal. The sun has shown but a very little. We had quite a rain last evening. The grass is growing very fast. Stock can now do well on the Plains. I attended a dancing party last Friday Eve. Had a time, was thrown from a Horse & got lost in the woods. Though no damage done, I was feeling very poorly Saturday You Bet. I shall attempt a Christmas Party on the 27 Inst. at Visalia. Bill 7.00. There will be very large attendance. This is my third Christmas from my old home in Penna. I would like very well to eat turkey with them at Home. A happy Christmas to you all.

June 15th 1860.—There was one hundred couple at the party on the 27th of Decm./59.—We all enjoyed ourselves exceedingly well. I was feeling very rich the next day. I remember. Since then I have attended a great many parties & have taken many pretty Damsels with me to them. I have found out they are very expensive & shall not be quite so anxious after this to attend them. Nearly six months have passed away since I have written in this Book. During which time many things have occurred of note & ought to have been noted down in my journal. Dave C. Broderick our Senator from California has gone to his silent grave. He was killed by Judge Terry in fighting a duel.

CENTENNIAL FEATURE

FRANK JERSEY, left, was the first chief of the Porterville Volunteer Fire department, organized on June 9, 1890; the photo was taken probably in the early 1890s; the silver "horn" is actually a megaphone used in the early days to shout directions during a fire. At right is Ross Gardner, present chief of the Porterville Fire department, also with a megaphone, but not the same one Jersey is shown with. (This one was apparently lost in years gone by.) The engraved, silver horn that Gardner is holding was won by the Porterville Fire Department in a water fight with the Bakersfield Fire Department, in Bakersfield, on the Fourth of July, 1907. Water fights between fire departments were highly competitive sports in the old days, but as pumping equipment was developed, and city water systems built up more pressure, men were being injured in water fights so the contests gradually died out. (Jersey photo from Howard Frame collection)

There's not a mad rush for plants these warm days but the ant poison, charcoal, and shade trees are in great demand. It's also a good season to compare notes on vacations, summer jobs, and kids home from school.

The ants seem to be a bigger problem than the kids if such a thing is possible. This really shouldn't be because chlordane will remove the ants but only the end of summer will remove the young'uns. Chlordane comes in powder or liquid so you can choose whichever is easiest for you to use. The powdered type we peddle is called "Bug Shot" and not only contains the equivalent of 3% Octochloro-4, 7-Methano Tetrahydro Indane but also has 1% B-Thiocyanethyl esters of mixed fatty acids averaging 10 to 18 carbon atoms. Maybe one of the children can explain what that is and also what happens if the batch you get averages low in carbon atoms?

Maybe a sack of Griswold's good charcoal mixed in would raise the carbon back up to an acceptable figure. In any case this charcoal will cook a super meal and is almost instant lighting. Gives meat that professional flavor that will make you the envy of the neighborhood.

If you haven't a shady spot to relax in while your wife stokes the fire, then be sure and have a look at the trees we have for sale. They can be planted now, they grow fast, they're clean, and they're only four seventy five. On "E" Street next to Pearson Pump.

Time Out

By DAVIS HARP

THE FAST AND THE QUICK
VS THE FAST AND THE BIG

Thursday night's North-South Senior Bowl game in Bakersfield shapes up as the old and always exciting duel between speed and power. But there are a few things added that make this particular duel a bit more interesting than those we have witnessed in the past.

What are the additives that make this duel different? The big south squad represents power. They have the type of crunching straight-ahead power that used to make the single-wing go in any football circle. But, they have something else going for them. The Southern power runners also boast the kind of speed that has caused college football coaches from all over the U. S. to either pay personal attention or send worthy representatives to this game.

How's this for fast? Bill Mackey, South halfback, set a new national high school high hurdle record this spring. In setting the record Mackey aced out Charlie Leathers, the front running halfback from Hanford, who will be in the North backfield come Thursday. The only trouble is that big Bill has a little trouble cracking his books and is spending a great deal of time in summer school. This means that the youngster will not have enough time to learn Pat Mills' type of offense. But there's plenty of help in the form of big-line-blasting George Medibru. We watched this boy work out Tuesday morning and he showed us lots of drive—he also is adapting to the tricky type of T that Mills uses.

The South is capable of throwing a good air game also. Their big basket-handed ends, Dean Maxwell of Bakersfield high, and Leon Standridge of Shafter, make catches that would do honor to a lot of good college ends.

Line-wise the South is big and the boys looked fast. In all, the Kern county squad is a big, strong, mature outfit. They will be hard to beat.

But, if they can be beaten, it is the type of squad assembled by North coaches Gordon Johnson, J. R. Boone, and Tom Yost, that can do it. The North is the type of outfit that Bud Wilkinson, of Oklahoma, would take and make a great team of. They are not football big. But they are rangy, strong young men who move quickly and react swiftly. As a group they have fine speed and have outstanding speed in such backs as Leathers. Jim Blakley of Hanford, and little Bobby Lee, of Coalinga.

Bob Nichols, Porterville's contribution to the game, is typical of the team Bob is not big by football standards. But he is rock-hard, smart, and he likes to knock people down on the football field. The Porterville youngster is slated to see action as an offensive center.

Gordon Johnson head North coach, made this statement concerning the game, "We can't go through the South team, but we are fast, and we can go over, around, and under them. I think we can beat them."

Spectacular Fireworks Display By Exchange Club To Conclude Fourth Of July Celebration

PORTERVILLE, June 29—A spectacular fireworks display in Jamison stadium, staged by the Porterville Exchange club, will conclude the old-fashioned Fourth of July Centennial observance next Tuesday.

In the "first time out" last year, the Porterville Exchange club fireworks drew the largest crowd in Porterville history; this year, it is stated, the display of pyrotechnics will be greater and more colorful than last year.

There is no charge for the show, cost being offset by an auction, several months ago, of a wide variety of items donated to the Exchange club by individuals and business firms.

Specially constructed ground displays, several of them in keeping with Porterville's Centennial observance, have been assembled by Exchange club members who worked at the Sequoia Rock company plant over the past weekend. More than 100 aerial shots are planned after dark, with daylight type aerial displays to bet off at intervals earlier.

Gates and concession booths at the stadium will open at 6 p. m.; program, preceding the fireworks, will begin at 8 p. m., with a flag ceremony, music by Buck Shaffer's Fabulous Studio band, and a demonstration by the Breakfast Lion's Club Confederate Cannon crew.

Working with Gib Gimble, Exchange club president, on special committees, are: Elvin Shoemaker, general chairman; Ben Webb and Vern Schwin, concessions; Harlan Bentz and Dwight Friesen, pyrotechnic display; John Keck, program; Ray Holloway, master of ceremonies; and Lawrence Billiou, parking.

Handling traffic control will be the California Highway Patrol and deputies and reserve deputies of the Tulare County Sheriff's office.

Planned for serving in concession stands are ice cream bars, snow cones, soft drinks, hot dogs and peanuts.

State board of equalization has tentatively increased valuation of the 14 major utilities in California by $276,649,480, making total assessed value $3,853,650,000.
